Throwing out another pair of shoes?

Messy surgeries are part of the job but your current PPE isn't up to the task. You're dealing with the same issues over and over again, including:

- Wet socks, shoes, and even scrubs
- Slipping and sliding across wet surgical floors
- Potential contamination or transfer of disease from a patient

You're not alone. At Sloan Medical, we've seen these same issues arise again and again for healthcare workers across the nation. Yet these problems persist with little progress made to alleviate them.

STA-DRI as a bone.

Messy surgeries will always be part of the job. Making them safer for your team is our job. STA-DRI PPE by Sloan Medical is lightweight, durable, and impenetrable. Best of all, it's proven to help keep healthcare professionals safe and dry through messy surgeries.

WHY SLOAN MEDICAL

Protecting healthcare professionals for over 30 years.

Guaranteed to keep you safe and dry

Don't sweat the wet. We've designed, tested, and continually improved our products to ensure that they do their job—so you feel confident doing yours.

One-size-fits-all reduces inventory

Save shelf space. Your entire team is protected with covers that easily fit any size—and can be restocked with a single SKU.

Personalized service

No need to demand an account “representative.” Our Midwest based, family-owned company was founded by a urologist who treasures values and personalized service.

Handcrafted in North America

Eliminate overseas delays and keep PPE readily available for your team with products made in North America. Most products ship within 24 hours.
